

-MV106 NAVIGATION TO HARBERTON RANCH

At the tourist dock and embark on the catamaran sailing southeast in the waters of Ushuaia Bay, in the middle of the channel changes the course in an easterly direction until arriving at the Estancia Harberton.

We leave the city of Ushuaia, it is the ideal moment to take beautiful panoramic pictures from the catamaran. Already in the center of the Beagle Channel, we will find the archipelago where Alicia Island is located, inhabited by an important colony of Imperial Cormorants and other species of birds that live on the resources provided by the colony. Such as the Southern Giant Petrel, Dolphin Gull, Kelp Gull, Skua, etc.

During the navigation we will have the opportunity to observe the majestic Black-browed Albatross, Southern Fulmar, Fuegian Steamers Duck without forgetting the friendly Southern American Tern.

The navigation continues eastward through the Channel and we are now heading towards the Les Eclaireus area. Here you will find the island of the Sea Lions. There are two species of sea lions, the fur seal, and the sea lion. On another island was built a lighthouse that bears the same name of the archipelago and Rock Cormorant Colony. This is where the sinking of the Monte Cervantes Cruise Ship took place in 1930.

Always towards the East we will sail next between the coasts of Puerto Almanza (Argentina) and Puerto Williams (Chile) to enter later around the Mackinlay Passage and go directly to the Martillo Island where the elegant Magellanic Penguins and Gentoo Penguins await us, the only colony of these penguins in the continent.

After enjoying the visit to the penguin colony, we head towards Estancia Harberton. At the Estancia we will tour the farm to learn about its history and visit its excellent museum about marine mammals. Then we will travel 85 kilometers in the bus that will be waiting for us at the Estancia. On the way back to Ushuaia we will enjoy the beautiful scenery.
